IN MEMORIAM:

In memory of W. W. Martin, who departed this life one year ago, January 26, 1951.

One year has swiftly passed away,
But still we don't forget.
For in the hearts that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.

In lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are very dear;
We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year.

—Sadly missed by:
Brothers and Sisters.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Our Human Machine

Our body is a machine; the most wonderful machine that ever was made. If we would take it in for an inspection once in a while, we could save it much wear, and occasionally a breakdown. We takes our autos and trucks in for inspection. Of course we sputter about it but, I have found that on most occasions it was well worth while. The saying, "We should profit by the experience [illegible]" is as true today as in times past. The person who has a [illegible], at least once a year, stands a better chance of keeping fit than [illegible] who does not.

It may be we need a little medicine of some kind, maybe a few days in bed would be the thing. could be a little counsel would set us right. Whatever is needed, and you and the doctor agree on it, follow the orders to the best of your ability.

I have been an eye -witness to many cases who have brought in what they had left of themselves, expecting, in most cases, for the doctors to perform a miracle and make them like new again.

". . . Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Let us be careful what we sow!

WEED KILLER

A new chemical weed killer is being tested at Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station at VPI.

Dr. W. E. Chappell, who is conducting the research, says the chemical is known as CMU, and seems to have many possibilities. Rates of 20 to 80 pounds per acre kill all vegetation for more than a year. It has promise as a pre-emergency treatment at much lower rates for weeds in corn, asparagus, coton and carrots.

At present, CMU in available only for experimental use or in industry to produce soil sterility for extended periods in locations such as lumber yards, gasoline storage areas, arsenals, and other places where plant growth might constitute a fire hazard.

DEER HERDS IN VA. ON UPGRADE

Chester Phelps, chief of the Game and Inland Fisheries Commission, announces that Virginia is not alone when she points with pride to her rebounding deer herds, for the Commission's success in bringing the white-tail back to the mountains is given national recognition in the latest Annual Report of the Pittman-Robertson Program, prepared by the Wildlife Management Institute, Covering results of the P-R program in all the 48 states.

The report states that, "the restocking of deer into the mountains of Virginia has been eminently successful. Since 1939, Virginia has planted nearly 1500 deer under its P-R program. Studies show that approximately 40,000 of these animals now roam the state."

REV. BAILEY ASSUMES EVERGREEN PASTORATE

The Rev. David L. Bailey has assumed his duties as pastor of the Evergreen group of Baptist Churches. Rev. Bailey is a former resident of near Rustburg, Va., leaving there seven years ago to attend the Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky. After three years in the Seminary, he was sent by the Kentucky Baptist Board as a state missionary to the mountains of that state. His territory was Letcher County, and was stationed at Fleming. During his service there, he led them in completely remodeling the church, and he became full-time pastor at this self-supporting church, serving for three years longer. During the time of his pastorate, the resident membership was more than doubled.

He continued to conduct a county mission, and Vacation Bible Schools where there were no churches. He helped organize one additional church. Last fall he helped in organizing an association in the area and he served with Sunday School and B. T.U. organizations.

Rev. Bailey feels that he has "come back home" to Virginia, especially since he married a former Appomattox H. S. graduate and Baptist minister's daughter of this county, Miss Katherine Chocklett, daughter of the Rev. G. A. Chocklett. Mrs. Bailey also served in the missionary work in Kentucky, being superintendent of W. M. U. work for two associations and as a state camp counsellor and teacher.

The Bailey's have three children: Betty, 15; David, Jr., 10; and Bob, 8. Betty is in high school and will join her parents here later.

The Bailey's extend an invitation to old friends and new to visit them at the parsonage in Evergreen.
